“ Ronnie and I met 30+ years ago dancing at Top Rail in Dallas. He was an incredible dancer. He talked me into entering a dance competition and I wasn't surprised when he won 5 golds that day. No one seemed to understand our relationship. I am married to a wonderful man and Ronnie respected that. You see, I lost my daughter a few years ago and most "friends " don't know what to do or say, so it's easier to stay away. Not Ronnie! He was there through the pain and sadness. He said once that it isn't what you say... it's just being there for your friends. And he always was. I'll never forget... you were a true friend.

“ Wow where do I start? First we are cousins from his great mom and my great dad being brother and sister,so many sunday's acting crazy in Bromide Oklahoma USA.Then he and by brother attended alot of my football games together when I was in high school.Then later he was my boss at kroger and easy to say one of the best bosses I ever had plus he was very very good at his job.Now is when he kept telling me he wanted me to put him on a bull which was his first and of course his last,but he rode for a couple jumps and of course he was scared shitless and afterwards he told me I think I'm done lol.So now we talk about all the softball we played together,there were lots of league games and plenty of tournaments and did I mention boy could he jack that ball and of course he studied it thru and thru of how to place your feet and hands and when he would talk to me about it I would just say I don't care how we do it just you and me just need to hit the damn ball and make things happen.Later in life when I opened a antique store that was just right up his alley,he loved going picking with me and we did lots of deals together when he would get some goodies in his storage lockers.Let me back up just a tad in 1998 I moved to the Sherman area and later on he met in my opinion the best thing for him and that is Miss Nora,boy do I love that lady and as I have said before I looked at him like a brother from another mother but I knew we had the same blood because when we would hang out in my store and play the oldies on the juke box we could raise the roof to the Hag and Gary Stewart when no customers were in there.Ronnie my brother I have cried and I have laughed in the hours since you went on to heaven before us and I will never forget you and the times we had.RIP till I see you again and I will bring my bullrope maybe you will try one more,love you Johnny.

“ That guy has a huge place in my heart and now there is a huge hole in my heart that will forever be there. Ron is my nephew, Me and Pete lived next door to them when he was in grade school , Jr. Hi, and High school. Needless to say we spent a lot of time with Ron, Rose, and Kim. Pete taught him how to catch a fly ball and how to pitch and how to hit the ball. Ron had a hard time trying to judge the fly ball while playing baseball until one time Pete hit a fly ball and he had his glove and hands up and of course it went right through his hand and glove and hit him smack on the nose. His nose bled and bled but guess what ? He never missed a fly ball again. Fast forward to Jr. Hi, Ron ran track and was quite good at it, He would brag about how fast he was and he could be anyone, I told him I am 6 months pregnant Ron and I bet I can beat you, of course he laughed. Next thing I knew he got some marker, marked 100 yards out in the middle of the street and wanted me to come challenge him. He was laughing at me, well I couldn't let him get away with that so I went with him to run that race. Neighbors were watching, we took off and I left him way behind, I can still see the expression on his face. He kept saying man, man you are fast. That was back in 1961 and I have heard him tell that story many many times. I love that guy, he is one of a kind. I don't think I have ever ask him about something that he didn't know everything about it. Ron is the research king. RIP I'm going to miss you.

“ I was in the Sherman dance group with Ronnie and Norma. They could dance like pros. Beautiful dancing. If any of us needed help learning a step or turn he would hop up and show us how to do it correctly. He would work with you as long as needed. He was quite the showman. He made dancing look so easy while he had Norma going every which way. They were a beautiful couple! Will miss him so much. He and Norma even came to my house to show me some moves. Love them both. So hard to say goodbye.

“ Ronnie was a gem of a guy. I first met him many years ago, through my mother-in-law Johnnie and my father-in-law Pete. He was so friendly and fun to talk with. We did not live close together, so contact wasn't very often, but in later years ran into each other because we discovered we were bowling in the same league together. We had such fun together. Ronnie was a wonderful bowler and we loved discussing angles and speed and so forth. He was a great instructor too - gave me a lot of tips on picking up the pesky 10 pin. I didn't know he was ill until just a few days before he passed. Such a wonderful person, he will be missed by so many. Love and prayers go out to Johnnie and the rest of the family. -
