“ To my beloved brother and best friend me and have brother has been close in the beginning until the end even when were little kids we stuck together side by side and we would always would lean on each other when we had promblems in our lifetime he most caring, generous,loving, considerate, generous person i know. he had a heart as big as the state of texas.He wuz my best friend and always try to help anybody he could in his life.I know in my heart he is very depressed and i hated seeing that way everyday.I just wanted to make his pain go away and try tp help him anyway i could.My brother left me with some many unanswered questions and i don't understand why he what he did he wasn't in his right mind.Ronnie and me always has always door to my brother no matter what the situation was and we talked to him and listen to his promblems. I just don" t think i knew how to take his pain away and i feel helpness and now i feel like their is void in my heart now since he is gone. i feel like their is part of me missing now. i just wished i could see his face one more time and say goodbye but i know he is at peace now and he isn't hurting anymore. my brother will always hold a special place in my heart. I know i see him again one day in heaven again and i will look to my brother and say why to did this to me brother you left me behind.But i will always remember the good times we had together. But my life will never the same without you. I just feel so lost without you and i just wished i could pick up the telephone and call him one more time and say i love you. Rest in peace brother and i know u are in god"s hands now. I love you very very very much and i miss you so so much!!!!

“ I thought and hoped that you would be good for my brother. Never would I dream you would become my worst nightmare. Shelly, you took my beautiful brother who was already weak, from Emotional Problems and Addictions and you crushed his heart and spirit. I knew you had Emotional Problems and Addictions, but i never dreamed you were so deiceitful, manipulative, and cruel. May my brother rest in peace and may my God, whom i serve, show you the kind of mercy that you showed my brother. My brother only wanted to learn how to love you for the beautiful person he thought you were. All I can ask is WHY ?

“ I will cherish all the good times with you Byron, despite what you or anybody else thought I loved you dearly. I'm going to miss getting lost in those beautiful blue eyes. I'll miss the little things like quiet dinners at home together then cuddling up to watch a movie. The small things were the best. I just can't believe you're gone, I'm going to miss you so much Byron, but I know your soul is at rest and you're in a better place. I love you.

“ I remember so many fun times that we had, when we were still in school... Hard to imagine your smiling face any other way, and I will forever cherish all the laughter I can still hear whenever I reminisce those good ole days. I pray that your family will bond together and take the extra time to lift one another up as they learn to live without you here. You will see us again one day- when we get to the other side!! R.I.P.
