This is a very sad day for me, she was like a sister to me, had a beautiful smile, loved people , always willing to help anyone.

“ I don't really know where to start. My heart is breaking, but I have so many wonderful memories of my sweet friend. I know you are dancing with the angels now - no more pain and suffering. Your sorrows and worries are now a thing of the past, therefor I have no real reason to be sad.

You took me under your wing the day we met and became my sister and Grandma Cissy to my children. I'll never forget your pride in helping raise my two youngest. You were there for most all of their "firsts". Even as life separated us by many miles, you continued to nurture and care for them.

This morning when I searched through the photo albums that you made of the times you spent with the girls, I couldn't find even one picture of you. Then it dawned on me that you were always behind the camera, preserving your memories with snapshots of everyone you loved.

You were such a loving, generous and giving person, and I'll never forget how you were there to help me through my struggles. I only wish that you would have let me help you through yours. But then, you were always strong in your faith that you could and would do it on your own.

My memories of you will always bring a smile, but if I could have you back for just a little while, then we could sit and talk like we used to. You always meant so very much to me - and always will.

The fact that you are no longer here will surely cause me pain, but you, my sweet friend, will be forever in my heart until we meet again.
