“ I just want to extend my deepest sympathies and condolences to the family and friends. We all know we have a day to go but it never makes this any easier. When it happens suddenly and it's not expected it makes it that much harder. I will pray for healing, wisdom, patience, guidance, and deliverance over this family and call blessing to come. I would like to extend out my personal telephone number to anyone who may need an hear to just listen and don't need someone to say it's going to be okay or he's in a better place. I am also going to post my Facebook messenger so if you would rather reach me there free to do so. And again nobody including myself can say the right words or can take your pain away but I really would encourage you to talk even when you don't want to. Tears are signs of healing and not weakness. Cry all you need to. My phone number is 580 768 3421 and my messenger is Alexis Oneal. I understand if you don't want to talk but I'm an ear if you do.
