“ I played often with Joe Hale while we were kids. We were classmates. We were friends. I will forever hear him saying, "Great gobs of greasy gravy, granny' as long as I live. I will be unable to make it up for the funeral. He was one of the good ones and will be missed.

“ One of my memories of Joe was when I was a kid. I had been running around a corner at school and ran head to head into another student and split my head open just at my eyebrow. Joe and Moma took me to the emergency room and I was so upset over ruining my dress and Joe just laughed and laughed at me because I hit to head to head with a boy. He made me mad but made me laugh at the same time. Now I look back on it and think that he did that to lessen the trama that I was feeling. He was a good man.
