“ I met Linda about 35 years ago at the hospital. She was the charge nurse over me at the hospital. I was not a fan of her then because she was a tough boss but it didn't take long before I was proud to work with her. She taught me many things. We also worked at Customer Links and she asked me to be part of the Looser's Club where our friends got together and are at Red Lobster, drink & eat together, and shared our innermost thoughts & Feelings. I went to her house several days a week and the days we weren't together we would talk on the phone for hours. I brought her so many butterflies over the years. Everytime my son and I went to a second hand store or yard sale we went on a butterfly hunt for gifts for her. She trusted me enough to care for her after her back surgery and every illness. She meant everything to me. We thought of each other as family. I trusted her to take care of my Autistic son and she got so close to him that he would talk to her about his problems when he wouldn't talk to me or anyone else. She loved him so much. Everytime he went to her house she gave him a Dr. Pepper. Many times I caught her giving him her last one. I don't think she would do that with anyone else. I was there when she passed away and it was the worst day of my life but I was also happy because she was no longer in pain. I know she was flying with the butterflies to be with her loving husband Eddie.

Linda and I met at the hospital about 40 years ago. We worked together for many years, after I became the House Supervisor she was one of my main Emergency Room Nurses. We also did ACLS together, in weather like this, icy. She was my rock! My support! I couldn't have done it without her! She was my long time friend who was always thought of as a part of my family. We lost contact for a few years due to me living in Atoka, taking care of my Mom and Uncle, and our future jobs took us in different directions, but God always brought us back together. I visited her and Eddie over the years and was shocked at his sudden loss. I will sincerely miss my friend, Linda. My Mom passed December 27, 2021 and I would have never thought that in 2 months I would lose a lifetime friend too. It was always a comfort to know Linda was just a phone call away...fly high Linda fly high! Love and prayers for Shandi, Lindsay, Avery and all the family. I love you all.
