“ I just learned of the passing of Mary Barcenas, the kindest, sweetest woman. As I got to know her I was just delighted to learn that she was the daughter of Joel Camp, Sr., one of the first of my many good friends at Choctaw Nation. Mr. Camp was most likely in his 70s-80s at the time and still employed in caring for the Tribal Complex and grounds back in 1980 when I first started working for the Tribe. He used to drop in my office for just a few minutes now and again, sit at my desk and talk. I still have his gift to me, Choctaw words with English translations he'd written on 'Big Chief' school tablet paper. I remember he sang with a small group at various Tribal functions; hearing him sing Amazing Grace would make you cry. I will miss Mary and her sweet, serene face, she was such a beautiful person.
