She would say her most valuable possession in life were her kids and grandkids. Later in life, she moved to Bixby, Oklahoma, where she lived with her daughter, Rita and worked until retirement as a manager for Braum's Ice Cream Corp. Nira enjoyed her country life, reading books, where she planted her garden, raised chickens and ducks, and harvested her fruit to make Christmas jellies for all her family and friends each season.

People who knew Nira will remember her as a giving and loving person, and some would say she was the closest to being a saint. She loved all people and would not turn anyone down who needed her help. Her family would like to thank all her friends, Saint Francis hospice care and fellow prayer warriors for all happy thoughts and prayers during this time. She will surely be missed by us all.
