“ Regina I can see you now on your hands and knees with a spoon trying to get one of those golden bricks to add to your rock collection. My life will never be the same. What I would give to have a few seconds with you to tell you how much I love you.

“ Although I signed the book at the service, I was not able to express my thoughts. Regina was the first person at Alcoa to befriend me at Alcoa, although she called me Margaritte she was the most loveable person and we ended up spending alot of time together, over the years we lost track of each other but I can truely say she was one of the most kind, friendly and loveable people I have yet to meet. I want to express my condolences to all of her family, some whom I got to meet others I heard alot about, I know that she will always be with everyone who ever met her as she leaves a strong impact on us all. God Bless you. We love you.

“ There will come a day when the tears of sorrow will softly flow into tears of remembrance...and your heart will begin healing itself...and grieving will be interrupted by episodes of joy...and you will hear the whisper of hope. There will come a day when you will welcome the tears of remembrance...as a sun shower of the soul...a turning of the tide...a promise of peace. There will come a day when you will...risk loving...go on believing...and treasure the tears of remembrance. All those sleeping in their graves will wake up and sing for joy. As the sparkling dew refreshes the earth, so the Lord will revive those who have long been dead.”-Isa. 26:19.
