“ Though Shug was officially my aunt, she was like a big sister to me. We basically grew up together at my Grandmama and Papa Les’s house. I knew her to be really smart, a good worker and a fantastic tambourine player. She could bang a song out on that thing like nobody else! She was also pretty tough. One time, I had someone threatening me and she wouldn’t stand for that...she let them have it over the phone and I’m sure would have torn into them in person. She was loud, energetic and talkative but she had a deep love in her heart for her family. Sadly, we grew apart as we followed our own lives and families in different cities. I have never stopped loving her and will always cherish our memories together. I am so sorry to Shawn and Trent for the loss of your mama and to Joseph and the grandkids for their loss...I know she loved you all. My love to you all and I am and will continue to pray for you.
